

APA STYLE

Reference Formats

(revised 16/09/2007)

Important: Effective June 15, 2007, APA style guidelines for electronic resources (section 4.16 of the Manual, pp. 268-281) changed.

Referencing online journal articles and some other materials has changed to emphasize using an assigned DOI (digital object identifier). Date of retrieval is no longer included for materials that are unlikely to be changed or updated (PDF/page images).

Introduction

The examples below are consistent with the format for citing material as indicated in the 5th edition of the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association, Ref BF 76.7 P83 2001. Examples for online materials are adapted from the 2007 APA Style Guide to Electronic References. They should be consulted for further information and types of references not listed here. See the Publication Manual, Fifth Edition Reprint Corrections for the latest changes to the Manual.

APA Manual (p. 299) indicates that all references are double-spaced within and between references, only one space follows all punctuation (except for abbreviations which do not have spaces), and use "hanging indent" format; that is, the first line is flush along the left margin, and subsequent lines for an entry are indented one-half inch (word processing software default). Depending on individual web browsers, indents may not appear as a true one-half inch.

Also note that URLs (web addresses) are not underlined, even though some software will automatically underline.

PRINT SOURCES (NON-ELECTRONIC)

Books, Book Chapters, & Unpublished Theses

Book, no author or editor

Place title in the author's position; alphabetize by the first significant word in the title; cite in text using a few words of the title, or the whole title if it is short, in place of the author's name.

Professional guide to diseases. (1982). Springhouse, PA: Intermed Communications.

Book, one author

McKibben, B. (1992). The age of missing information. New York: Random House.

Book, multiple authors

Larson, G. W., Ellis, D. C., & Rivers, P. C. (1984). Essentials of chemical dependency counseling. New York: Columbia University Press.

---

Edited book (editor in place of author)

Inness, S. A. (Ed.). (1998). Delinquents and debutantes: Twentieth-century American girls' cultures. New York: New York University Press.

Edited book, multiple authors (editor in place of authors)

Moriarty, L. J., & Carter, D. L. (Eds.). (1998). Criminal justice technology in the 21st century. Springfield: Charles C. Thomas.

Book, subsequent edition (2nd, 3rd, etc.)

Lemay, L. (1997). Teach yourself web publishing with HTML 4 in a week (4th ed.). Indianapolis: Sams.net.

Article or chapter in an edited book

Hartley, J. T., Harker J. O., & Walsh, D. A. (1980). Contemporary issues and new directions in adult development of learning and memory. In L. W. Poon (Ed.), Aging in the 1980s: Psychological issues (pp. 239-252). Washington, DC: American Psychological Association.

Report from a private organization (author & publisher same)

National League for Nursing. (1990). Self-study report for community health organizations (Pub. No. 21-2329). New York: Author.

Corporate authorship

Institute of Financial Education. (1982). Managing personal funds. Chicago: Midwestern.

Reprinted or republished chapter

Freud, S. (1961). The ego and the id. In J. Strachey (Ed. and Trans.), The standard edition of the complete psychological works of Sigmund Freud (Vol. 19, pp. 3-66). London: Hogarth Press. (Original work published 1923)

Following the entry, enclose "Original work published" in parentheses, noting the original date.

Chapter in a volume in a series

Maccoby, E.E., & Martin, J. (1983). Socialization in the context of the family: Parent-child interaction. In P.H. Mussen (Series Ed.) & E.M. Hetherington (Vol. Ed.), Handbook of child psychology: Vol. 4. Socialization, personality, and social development (4th ed., pp. 1-101). New York: Wiley.

Citing multivolume works

Wilson, J. G., & Fraser, F. C. (Eds.). (1977-1978). Handbook of teratology (Vols. 1-4). New York: Plenum Press.

In listing a multivolume work, the publication dates should be inclusive for all volumes. The volumes should be identified, in parentheses, immediately following the book title. Do not use a period between the title and the parenthetical information; close the entire title, including the volume information, with a period.

Translated works

Freud, S. (1970) An outline of psychoanalysis (J. Strachey, Trans.). New York: Norton. (Original work published 1940)

The original publication date is the last portion of the entry and should be in parentheses with the note "Original work published" followed by the date.

Entry in an encyclopedia

This includes both general and specialized encyclopedias. If an entry does not have a byline, begin the reference with the entry title and publication date.

Moore, C. (1991). Mass Spectrometry. In Encyclopedia of chemical technology (4th edition) (Vol. 15, pp. 1071-1094). New York: Wiley.

Entry in Mental Measurements Yearbook (MMY)

Title of the review and authorship appears in italics at the beginning of the review narrative (example provided below). Also note that many entries published in MMY contain more than one review.

ELECTRONIC SOURCES

Web sites/pages

Entire web site (as opposed to a specific page on the web site) does not appear in the reference list, but is cited within text as shown in the following sample sentence:

The International Council of Museums web site provides many links to museums, codes of ethics, and the museum profession (<http://www.icom.org/>).

Individual web page with personal author
Since web documents are similar to print, citations to them include the same elements such as author, date, title, place of publication, etc. Note that proper names are capitalized. Date of retrieval is included because the content is likely to change.

ELECTRONIC/e-BOOKS

According to the new APA Style Guide to Electronic References (2007), publisher geographical location (city & state) and name are not necessary in references retrieved electronically. However, this information should be included if publisher identity is not clear from the "author, URL, database name, or other reference information" (pp. 1-2).

Another change from 2001 Manual: if you need to continue a web address/URL onto another line, make sure to turn off automatic hyphenation in word processing software, and break before most punctuation, (e.g., a forward slash /) not after (see example below).

Articles in Professional/Scholarly Journals

New (June 2007) style guidelines use the DOI (Digital Object Identifier) as assigned. This alpha-numeric code usually appears on the article or in the database record.

If the DOI is not provided on the article or in the database record, enter the citation information using Cross/Ref Simple Text Query or DOI Lookup. Note that materials originally published prior to the Internet, but now available online may have a DOI.

Researchers may determine multiple DOI's by copying & pasting entries from a references list to the Cross/Ref Simple Text Query.

A DOI may be verified by searching the Cross/Ref DOI Resolver.

If the work does not have a DOI assigned, see additional examples below.

Always provide issue number (if available) following volume number. [changed 6/07]

Include author first & middle initials, and issue number if provided. Note that works with a DOI no longer need a database name. Also, because they are final versions of articles, do not include date of retrieval, and the URL is not included. Since DOI numbers are complex, we suggest copying and pasting DOI into reference.

Article with DOI assigned

Articles in Popular Magazines

Note: Most popular magazine articles do not have a DOI assigned.

Newspaper Articles

Article in a newspaper retrieved from a web site

For the majority of popular magazine articles located directly on a publisher's web site, formats often differ from the original. Volume, issue, and page numbers often are not provided. If they are not used, the name of the periodical is all that can be provided in the reference. Whenever possible, the URL should link directly to the article, not the publisher's home page.
